PERTINENT PARAGRAPHS

About People and Things in Washington.

BASS ARE biting splendidly at Great Falls.

THE THEATRE COMIQUE offers a good bill to-night.

DRIVER'S summer garden is well worthy a visit in the evening.

DON'T FORGET that Amer. on E street, offers an excellent programme to visitors.

CHARLES JONES was sent to jail for six months to-day for striking Samuel Paine on the head with a club.

FRANK D. Y. CARPENTER, Oscar Varma and Dr. J. H. Holmes, of this city, were registered in Baltimore yesterday.

WILLIAM H. GIBSON has been sent to jail for three months for stealing clothing and jewelry, valued at twelve dollars, from Valentine Lofdecker.

GEN. ROBT. MITCHELL, ex-governor of Kansas, will leave Washington shortly for the Rocky Mountains, where he will spend a couple of months.

GENERAL A. S. BADGER, collector of the port of New Orleans; Senator W. Pitt Kellogg, and Judge John Pardee, of Louisiana, are at the Riggs House.

A U. S. MARINE, named Michael Rafferty, stationed at the Naval Academy, was drowned at Horseshoe Point, near Annapolis, yesterday afternoon.

NOTHING has been done as yet toward the bracing of the Metropolitan Church spire thrown out of perpendicular by the storm which unroofed the City Hall.

THE asphalt works, corner of North Capitol and K streets, continues to emit its offensive odors, much to the discomfort of the residents of that section of the city.

IT WOULD seem, from the daily catch of the poundmaster, that the high dog-tax, $2, has had the effect of reducing the number of worthless curs within the corporation limits.

A YOUNG WARD, white boy, 9 years of age, fell from the second-story window of a new house being built at Pennsylvania avenue and I street, and was seriously but not dangerously injured.

FRANK WESTERBROOK, a Swedish sailor, attempted suicide yesterday afternoon by taking a dose of arsenic. He was found in a prostrate condition by Officer Volkman, and an antidote was administered.

JOHN MAGILL was charged with keeping a police shop near Fourteenth street and Pennsylvania avenue in the Police Court to-day. The case was continued until tomorrow, in order to get witnesses for the prosecution.

THE diamond trophy for long-range rifle shooting at Columbia range was won yesterday afternoon by Charles Laird, defeating Dr. Scott and all other contestants. Mr. Laird having won the trophy in three successive matches, it now belongs to him.

IT IS understood that Mr. Bernard McDonnell and Charles F. Shelton, two athletes of East Washington, will shortly engage in a scull race on the Eastern Branch. These two gentlemen have been in active training for some weeks past.

Tennessee are looking forward to the settlement of the question as to who is the legal Register of Wills with anxiety, as a long adjournment of the Probate Court would seriously affect those interested in the settlement of the estates of decedents.

CHRISTIAN H. WATCHEMITH, a native of Prussia, living on Massachusetts avenue, died this morning, at the age of seventy-one, from the effects of the heat. This is only the second case of the fatal effect of the heat reported to the health officer.

COL. JOHN C. KIMBALL, of Atlanta, Ga., of the International Cotton Exposition to be held at Oglethorpe Hall, in Atlanta, will be at the Metropolitan Hotel in this city on his return from Boston, where he has been in business connected with the exposition.

A FAMILY of six emigrants arrived at this city Monday night on a train from New York, and stated that they had neither friends nor money and did not know where to find lodgings. The party were taken to Lieut. Austin's station, and will remain there for a few days, the mother being very unwell.

QUITE AN exciting trial of speed occurred on the road yesterday evening between Wash. Naylor behind his $2,500 mare "Minnie" and Frank Hagerty behind his "Hard-boiled Egg." Both horses moved magnificently, but Frank, by a splendid start, passed Wash. as they neared the Schuylkill.

ANNE REUTIS was held for the grand jury in $500 bonds to-day for assaulting Clara Wallace with a razor or knife and inflicting a cut across the breast which justifies a charge of attempt to kill. Both women are colored and the accused is declared to have been maddened to desperation by jealousy.

HON. JOHN ASHLER SMITH has decided not to go to Naples at present. On receipt of the cablegram announcing the dangerous illness of his father, who is United States consul at that point, determined to go, but as he has heard nothing further he is hopeful that his father's condition is improving.

IT IS UNDERSTOOD that a vast amount of "wild-cat" life insurance exists in Montgomery County, Maryland. Advice from Rockville state that nearly every decrepit old dandy in that town has thousands of dollars of life insurance taken out upon him by speculators, and that this swindling business is seriously damaging legitimate insurance companies.

WILLIAM ELMORE, white, and Thomas Brown, colored, made their appearance to-day before His Honor, Snell, charged with affray. The two men are hackmen and were standing by their vehicles on Fourteenth street, below Pennsylvania avenue, when Elmore struck Brown with a club on the head. He was fined ten dollars for the assault. Brown was acquitted.

AN ODE TO GARFIELD.

"The Critic" Newsboys Express their Sympathy in Poetry.

The saw-mill whistle and St. Patrick's bell had just proclaimed the hour of noon. The managing editor, city editor; and the rest had just left the office for their usual lunch of champagne and mock turtle, when a tattered and begrimed boy entered the news editor's cell, where the latter was engaged condensing electrical news flashes for the first edition.

"I say, sir," said the youth, in a timid sort of way.

No answer from the N. E.

"I say, sir," the boy ventured to remark again.

Still the N. E. was silent, and the boy braced himself for another effort, repeating his "I say, sir," in a higher key.

"C. C. & L. C., tumbled a couple of points," the N. E. murmured, oblivious of the presence of his visitor. "I wonder when these dashed stock telegrams will stop coming in."

The visitor made a final effort, leaning over and whispering, "I say, sir," in a desperate tone into the starboard ear of the N. E.

It fetched him up with a round turn, and he moved mechanically toward his vest pocket in quest of a few stray pennies.

"I don't want any money," the boy said, having got on to the N. E.'s charitable intentions; "what I want is for you to publish this here poem in THE CRITIC. It was got up this mornin' by me and some other fellows down in the back alley, and yer will be doin' us a favor if yer put it in." The speaker then produced a soiled sheet of paper, on which was written in lead pencil the following:

Ode to General Garfield.

By THE CRITIC NEWSBOYS.

Shot like a dory, the ocean liner, the blue blooded stealer of depot food;

And the son-of-a-gun as shot him, well—

He made a clean break for their door.

But Pat Kearney was there and scooped him in.

And now he is in their jug.

A-thinkin' over his cowardly sin,

And hidin' his ugly mug.

Let's hope the President will pull through,

And that Galtie will letcher the devil.

And that Kearney will be promoted, too.

Fur showin' where his head was level.

If there ain't no law for Galtie's crime,

Jest give us boys their chance:

We'll polish him off in rattlin' time

And learn him their old rode name.

We is poor but loyal, that yer kin bet.

And we want the people to know it:

We'll gather his kibbs in outer their wet;

So give us their word and we'll go it.

And now that we hev had our say,

And showed how we stand in the matter,

We close by hopin' at a early day,

The President will get better.

The news editor accepted the contribution, promising to give it publication, and the newsboys passed down stairs and set up the pie for all the other archbishops in the vicinity of the business office.

A Herdic Driver's Mind All Torn Up.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 20, 1881.

To the Editor of The Evening Critic:

I am a Bostonian and a driver for the Herdic Coach Company. I am a perfectly sober man and drive a sober team and a sober coach. I only carry sober passengers. But that is not what I am after. In my Boston Transcript, of the 15th instant, a paper which is sent me from home every day, I saw the following paragraph:

A Herdic coach was seen at the South End, and the other evening carrying a passenger and displaying the sign "Full." The public mind is agitated with doubt. Did it refer to the passenger or the driver?

To-day the National Republican localizes the paragraph as follows:

A Herdic coach was seen on the Avenue, the other evening, carrying one passenger and displaying the sign "Full." The public mind is agitated with doubt. Did it refer to the passenger or the driver?

Now let me ask which is worse, to run a Herdic "Full," or steal some other fellow's thunder for the purpose of slandering, by imputation, a set of honest men who earn their bread by the sweat of their brows? Yours truly,

A HERDIC DRIVER.

Divorce from Bed and Board.

In the Equity Court, this morning, Julia F. Webster was granted a decree of divorce from bed and board from James E. Webster.

The parties were married in 1859, in Alexandria, Virginia, and have resided in this city for sixteen years past. There are now living six children born to them. The bill charges that the defendant is a drunkard, and has treated his family cruelly and insists upon living and eating with them, although he contributes nothing toward their support. She prays for the custody of her children and injunction against the defendant from molesting the family, all of which the court granted.

Also to-day Yetta Black was granted a divorce from bed and board from Leopold Black, with $15 per month alimony, costs of suit and $25 counsel fee. The charges made were cruelty and non-support.

Consolidated Machine Printing Company.

To-day a certificate of incorporation of the above-named company was filed in the recorder's office, naming Chas. F. Moore, Maurice P. Peckin, J. H. Phillips, J. H. Clephane, Lewis Clephane, F. W. Royce and Abner Greenleaf as incorporators. The object of the company is the business of printing, lithographing, stereotyping and electrotyping by use of machinery now in said arts, and to sell inventions and patent-rights relative thereto. The capital stock is fixed at $455,000; divided into 18,200 shares, at $25 each.

National Hotel Arrivals.

C. Walte, Virginia; L. Brower, Havertown; W. E. Barker, Providence; J. W. Fair, Virginia; J. P. Phillips, New York; L. Guilleme, France; A. O. Frank, Pennsylvania; C. A. J. Farrar, Boston; D. M. Brice, Baltimore; F. Merton, Maryland; Mrs. John Dauleh, Richmond; Miss E. B. Nichols, Richmond; D. M. Clark and wife, Philadelphia; Hon. Andrew Williams, New York; John Fitz, Philadelphia; E. H. Dick, Wheeling; R. H. Abbott, New York; J. J. Fowler, New York; Charles Pearce, Trenton; D. W. Knapp, Poughkeepsie; R. B. Ellis, Richmond; Dr. B. Munday, Richmond.

Application for Divorce.

To-day, Lydia F. Kimmell, by her counsel, S. C. Mills, filed her bill for a divorce from Charles A. Kimmell. The parties were married October 17, 1865, in this city, and the bill charges that on May 15, 1879, the defendant deserted complainant and her children of which there are two living, and has since refused to contribute to their support. She asks a divorce with custody of the children.

Pure Native Wines.

Chris. Xander, 911 Seventh street, has all the summer wines, some of his own manufacture—the Clinton, Concord, Ives, etc., which he guarantees equal, if not superior to imported wines.

The First Lady Smoking a Pipe.

Andrew's Queen.

"Aye!" remarked an old man on Saturday evening, as the people gazed upon the White House windows, wondering where the President lay, "the first time I entered that house I was told I should find our President (Gen. Taylor) in yonder room at the end of the passage to the right. As I walked along a strong smell of tobacco-smoke assailed my olfactory organs. I entered the room, and there, gentlemen, I saw Mrs. Gen. Taylor seated at a bedside smoking a clay pipe—fact!"

GEORGETOWN AFFAIRS.

All Accounts.

Franz G. Westenberg, a Swedish sailor, was found by Officer Volkman last night on the Rockville turnpike, suffering from a dose of arsenic, administered by his own hands with suicidal intent. He was suffering intensely, and the officer immediately procured a conveyance and drove him rapidly to the Rockville hospital, where an antidote was administered by Dr. Kleinschmidt. In a few hours the patient had recovered sufficiently to be removed to his boarding house, at Moore's Hotel, on Pennsylvania avenue, near Sixth street northwest. Westenberg says that the reason he tried to take his own life was because his girl, Lena Mason, had deserted him. Lena is a married woman, and her husband, so Westenberg says, is serving a term in a Philadelphia prison. He had been living with the woman for a long time, and had spent all his available cash with her, but as soon as she learned that he was a sailor, she deserted him and left him. This drove him to remorse and attempt at suicide.

The Strike Fails.

The strike of the gunboat laborers did not pan out well. The bosses yesterday advertised for men to work at a dollar a day, and the strikers, fearing that their places would be filled by others, concluded to go back to work. All of Mr. Jones's men have resumed work, and nearly all of Dunlop's.

Miscellaneous.

The firemen of the Georgetown engine-house are loud in their praises of Dr. A. B. Sheekels, who is summing up "at Coltons" for his kindness in sending them a barrel of fine crabs. The police officers, firemen and the Critic man, who never gets left on an occasion of that kind, had a regular old-fashioned crab feast. The doctor is a benefactor.

Mr. William Cox, 22 years of age, the son of John E. Cox, ex., of Thirtieth street, died this morning of consumption. Deceased was an estimable and popular young gentleman.

"OLD MUTTON-HEAD."

Judge Snell Gets a New Title from an Irreverent Critic.

In the Court to-day Judge Snell had a rather breezy customer to deal with in the person of one Clark, who had both his legs shot off during the civil war, and who is the recipient of a very large pension. It is said that what part of the pension Clark does not spend for whiskey he pays over to his crutch in the dock, hauled up to-day for the same offense, and the frequent conferences, in no very gentle tones, between him and the police as good as a circus. When the policeman who arrested him was describing his offense, Clark, who was defiantly propped up on his crutch in the dock, bawled out, "He's a liar and the truth ain't in him." "Be silent," said His Honor, "or I'll fine you for contempt." "Fine and be d—d, you old mutton-head; I have paid this old shambang enough fines and I am going to jail this time," replied the prisoner. "Put him down for thirty days," quoth the court. "He won't be," yelled Mr. Clark. "Nobody wants you in Washington." The bailiff here seized upon Clark and bore him off, vociferating anathemas on the court and police force, to the cells below. The Court did not recover his natural color for a half hour after so much had his ire been wrought up by the encounter.

THE COURTS.

EQUITY COURT.—To-day, National Capital Insurance Company vs. Russell; order authorizing receiver of plaintiff to dismiss suit. Kimmell vs. Kimmell; order of publication. Steptoe vs. Steptoe; reference to auditor to state trustee's account and to report distribution of proceeds of sale. Wright vs. Walters, trustee; sale of national savings bank; Knox substituted. Webster vs. Webster; divorce from bed and board. Smith vs. Fearson et al.; trustee allowed to sell. Waldron vs. Waldron; sale ordered. Barr vs. Barr; guardian ad litem appointed. McClellan vs. McIntire; order nisi. Shriver vs. Shriver; decree for sale of real estate. Confesso against defendant and trustee appointed. Morrow vs. Engle; order for appearance of defendant. Wiley vs. Jones; trustee's report ratified. Grimbly vs. Irwin; do. Beavans vs. Clark; pro confesso against certain defendants. Beavans & Shaw vs. Connor, Peckin, and have resided in this city for sixteen years past. There are now living six children born to them. The bill charges that the defendant is a drunkard, and has treated his family cruelly and insists upon living and eating with them, although he contributes nothing toward their support. She prays for the custody of her children and injunction against the defendant from molesting the family, all of which the court granted.

Art in Denver.

Golden (Col.) Globe.

Art is the rage in Denver now. It is related of a wealthy lady, who has taken five or six lessons, that she commenced a large painting of the Israelites crossing the Red Sea. The last seen of her was in a lively stable hiring men to hold the horses mouths open. Whether she means to represent the wicked Pharaoh as being swallowed by a crocodile, or whether she has not yet ascertained, she has shut herself apart from the vulgar crowd and meditates in solitude.

CONGRESSMAN CASKY YOUNG, of Tennessee, is in the city. He says that there is no apprehension of Yellow Jack in his country this summer. "The weather is fine, the atmosphere pure and the crops abundant," says Col. Young.

Second Edition.

4:00 P. M.

FLEET-FOOTED.

The second race was for a purse of $350, for all ages, distance one mile and a furlong. It was won by Boulevard, Victim second and Montreal third. Time, 1:59.

In the pools Victim sold for $200, Montreal $85, Jack $50, London $40, Merrimack $20, Faustina $15, Juanita $10, Tom Kinsella, Terror and George W. Darden $5 each.

The third race, for a purse of $400, for all ages, distance one mile and 500 yards, was won by Ripple; the favorite, Orelle second and Eole third. Time, 2:14.

NO SENATOR YET.

Lapham Within Four Votes of It.

ALBANY, N. Y., July 20.—The joint convention resumed its session at noon to-day. The first ballot for a senator to Conkling was as follows: Lapham, 150; necessary to a choice, 76. Lapham, 72; Conkling, 28; Woodford, 1; Potter (Dem.), 49.

A second ballot was ordered, and the ballot resulted: Lapham, 72; Potter (Dem.), 49; Conkling, 28; Woodford, 1. Total, 150; necessary to a choice, 76.

After the second ballot the convention adjourned until to-morrow.

A Fatal Explosion.

WATERLOO, OHIO, July 20.—The steam portable engine of Alexander & Newbach exploded last night, while working on the Erie road. The explosion was caused by a lack of water, and tore the boiler into strips and pieces not larger than a bank-note. The following is a list of the casualties: Hiram Brockway, killed; Robert Alexander, fatally hurt; Eugene Barclay, killed; William Corner, probably fatally killed; and John J. died since. Two others had slight injuries.

Sure, God is Good to the Irish.

LONDON, July 20.—Reports received from many parts of Ireland indicate that the Irish potato crop will be of a good quality and plentiful.

Sitting Bull Surrenders.

OMAHA, NEB., July 20.—A dispatch received here announces the surrender of Sitting Bull to the Government forces.

The Garfield Fund.

NEW YORK, July 20.—Subscriptions to-day for the benefit of the family of President Garfield amounted to $3,514, making a total of $151,925.

Turkish Troops for Tripoli.

LONDON, July 20.—A dispatch from Constantinople says the Sultan has ordered fresh troops to be sent to Tripoli.

The Weather.

The warm weather is again getting its work in Washington, and the heat is beating the atmosphere in the cool, and none of us forget it. Still a slight breeze stirs, and the nights are cool enough to sleep pleasantly. The thermometer to-day averaged 89 in the shade. While much higher, than yesterday or the day previous, it is a vast improvement on the one hundreds of last week.

The Jennings Cooling Apparatus.

Which has suspended operations for the past two days on account of the cool weather, was started again this afternoon by order of the physicians who thought the air in the President's room was becoming too close and needed to be cooled and purified.

Guy Thompson's Case.

When the case of Guy H. Thompson for impeding a United States witness was called in the Police Court to-day, Mr. Coyle, the prosecuting attorney, stated to the court that there were legal points in connection with the matter which would make it difficult to sustain the charge and that he would not press the case.

If a case of contempt of court can be made out it is probable that it will be tried, but otherwise Mr. Thompson is acquitted.

Jas. Y. Christmas Admitted to Bail.

To-day in the Criminal Court James Y. Christmas, indicted for the murder of W. W. Whitely, June 25th last, and whose bail was fixed, on Monday last, at $5,000, appeared with his bondsmen, Col. J. H. Wheeler, of North Carolina, but long resident of this city, and Maj. A. C. Richards. Judge Wylie accepted the bondsmen and they justified in the said amount and Christmas was discharged on custody.

Company "A" at Warrenton.

The Washington Light Infantry, Colonel Moore commanding, reached Warrenton, Ore., at 10 o'clock yesterday morning, and were escorted from the depot to the Town Hall by the Warrenton Rifles. The mayor, Hon. James V. Brooke, delivered an address of welcome on behalf of the citizens and Rifles, specially pointing to the era of good feeling between the North and South as being ended by the brotherly commingling of the soldiers of the country. Colonel Moore responded, handsomely complimenting Warrenton, the Rifles, and the fair ladies. The visiting company, after lunch, were presented to the ladies, and each made haste to secure a partner for the dance, which started at 12 o'clock, when they were escorted to the Fairview Springs, where, as the guests of the manager, they will remain until Friday next in camp near the hotel. This evening a grand ball will be given at the Springs. The Light Infantry will present to the manager, Mr. Tenney, a very handsome good-head cane.

William O. Roome, of the special assessment division, has issued tax liens against the following streets: 8, north from Fourteenth to Boundary; First, east from C north to C south; Twenty-fifth, from Pennsylvania avenue to K street; Massachusetts avenue, from New Jersey avenue to Eleventh street east; Fourth, east from Maryland avenue to Boundary.

The Commissioners have received a paper from the Capital Bicycle Club requesting that, in view of the fear that has been expressed by many citizens of being injured by bicyclists which pass through the streets at night without lanterns, that the Commissioners make a regulation requiring all bicyclists to have lights at night, and to empower the police officers to compel the riders to dismount and continue on foot whenever they violate this regulation.

Lieutenant Hoxie, of the Engineer Department, was in his office to-day after an absence of ten days, during which he has visited friends at Boston.

The following schooners arrived at the District wharves to-day: Cora S. Vongilder, Capt. Dillman, Sixth street wharf, with 301 tons of stone; at the Eleventh street wharf, Elizabeth Ann, Capt. Adams, 70,000 feet of lumber; Master L. Bartlett, Capt. Jones, 50,000 feet of lumber; Federal Hill, Capt. Hirvin, 75,000 feet of lumber; at the Twelfth street wharf, the Nelly, Capt. De Laey, with 225 tons of coal; at the Fourteenth street wharf, the Mount Vernon, Capt. Wood, 40,000 feet of wood, and the Elizabeth, Capt. Wright, with 140 tons of coal; a lot of 125,000 feet of lumber; 245 tons of coal, 40 cords of wood, and 301 tons of stone.

The President at 3 O'clock.

At 3 o'clock the President was reported as comfortable. He was resting quietly and seems to have become almost reconciled to his confinement. He still, however, longs for the time when he can take a trip down the river on the Despatch, and the physicians have promised to accommodate him as soon as his condition will permit.

Japanese Sympathy.

Secretary Blaine received the following this morning:

LEGATION OF JAPAN.
Sir: Your note of the 12th instant, alluding to the interest which His Majesty the Emperor of Japan has felt and manifested in the welfare of President Garfield, was duly received and with pleasant surprise, for it was nothing more than a natural sentiment of the humane heart.

I can assure you that great sympathy with the President and the whole nation prevails throughout Japan in this hour of great trial.

The name of the President has recently been mentioned with tender regard by the good people of every clime throughout the world, thus showing the respect they entertain toward the Republic and its President. It is now, however, a source of great thankfulness that his ultimate recovery is fully assured.

I avail myself of this opportunity to renew the assurance of my high consideration. Yours very truly, YOSHINO KIKUSAKI.

A similar note was received from the Turkish Minister.

Cruelty to Animals.

Major King, of the S. F. T. P
